Farmers' Educational and Co-Operative Union of America

Matters of Especial Moment to the Progressive Agriculturist

It is worth while to say kind things. A firm stand now and the battle is won.

Greet the new member with a cordial welcome. Poor seed corn means a corresponding poor yield.

A poor home and a good farmer do not go together.

It does not hurt to hope that the cost of living will be reduced.

The person who believes himself miserable is certainly miserable. A man's friends can sometimes make him more uncomfortable than his enemies.

From the rolling stone's point of view moss may not be a desirable asset.

Many a man who tells you he is deserving is lucky to escape what he deserves.

When a man begins to live in the past instead of the present he becomes a back number.

The Farmers' union has set the pace and there should be no hesitation in following its lead.

The steady onward movement of the members of the great farmers' organization is shaking the earth.

A fruit professor says an apple came into the world after a pear. That is something learned if a little late.

The south has been and is a seller of the raw material which has proven unprofitable. Why not manufacture the raw product and make the profit both ways that the other fellow now does, and save freight both ways.

Perfect co-operation among all the members of the union will bring a certainty that you can command the price of your chief commodity. The quicker you all get in line the sooner all will feel the renewed activities in their lives owing to the better prices obtained.

SITUATION OF COTTON CROP

Spinners Up to All Kinds of Bluffing in Order to Induce Farmer to Market Staple Quickly.

While there is always more or less talk among the spinning interests during that portion of the season when cotton is most active in passing out of the hands of the growers, especially when a shortage in the yield forces an advance in the price, about curtailing consumption because of the dearthness of the raw material, we doubt if there has been a single instance since the resumption of business on a normal scale following the interruption caused by the civil war where the price of the raw material itself was directly responsible for the mills operating on short time. The higher cost of the raw cotton might, it is true, slightly affect the consumption demand for the finished product, yet not to such an extent as would make it good business judgment to let the machinery lie idle and the investment, consequently, return nothing. Indeed not—the profits have always been too large for that, says the Houston Post.

In this connection the Kansas City Times calls attention to certain published statistics bearing on the profits of the industry in New England that are worth noting. "When the tariff bill was pending," says the Times, "the cotton manufacturers of New England demanded and secured revision upward instead of revision downward for the schedule affecting them. They declared that the cotton industry could not possibly stand a reduction of the import duties. A few days ago a Boston newspaper published a big display advertisement for the sale of new stock in a cotton mill located in Boston. To show how profitable cotton stock investments had been in the past, a list of 18 mills was given, together with their capitalization, surplus and dividends for 1907. An analysis of the table shows that the dividends averaged 21 per cent. on the capital stock, that the accumulated surplus was almost as much as the capital and that the market value of the stock of the 18 companies was almost two and one-half times the par value. Therefore, congress increased the 'protection' on an industry in which the value of stocks—market quotations and accumulated surplus being taken into account—has increased more than 300 per cent. over the par value, and which, in addition to this increase in value, are paying 21 per cent. dividends."

The truth of the matter is, the spinning world is up to all the arts of bluffing in order to hasten the marketing of the crop, as it is in such quick movement that it is best enabled to dictate the price. The farmers' interest lies in getting wise to this fact and in arranging his affairs so as to make his staple only when it pleases him to do so.

Right Temperature.

The first matter of importance is that our milk should be kept at a uniformly low temperature from the moment it is received until it is used, preferably at about 40 degrees Fahrenheit.

A LITTLE COLD.

He caught a little cold— That was all. So the neighbors sadly said, As they gathered round his bed, When they heard that he was dead.

He caught a little cold— That was all. (Puck.)

Neglect of a cough or cold often leads to serious trouble. To break up a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable mix two ounces of Glycerine, a half-ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure and eight ounces of pure Whisky. Take a teaspoonful every four hours. You can buy these at any good drug store and easily mix them in a large bottle.

NEW STRENGTH FOR WOMEN'S BACKS.

How to Make a Bad Back Better.

Women who suffer with backache, bearing down pains, dizzy spells, and that constant feeling of dullness and tiredness, will find hope in the advice of Mrs. Mary Hinson of 21 Sterling St., Mt. Sterling, Ky. "Had I not used Doan's Kidney Pills, I believe I would not be living today," says Mrs. Hinson. "My eyesight was poor, I suffered with nervous, splitting headaches, spots would dance before my eyes and at times I would be so dizzy I would have to grasp something for support. My back was so weak and painful I could hardly bend over to button my shoes and could not get around without suffering severely. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me from the first, and I continued until practically well again."

Mistake Somewhere.

A story comes from a Kentucky town that is worth repeating. There lives there a woman who says that she has immediate communion with the Almighty, and now and then delivers to those of common clay a message that she has received from on high. The fact that these messages sometimes take on a very materialistic hue does not alter their effectiveness, in her opinion. One day she went into the office of a well known attorney and approached him solemnly as one about to reveal an awe-inspiring secret. "The Lord sent me to you for $25," she announced. The attorney looked up and smiled. "That must be a mistake," he replied, blandly, "because the Lord knows I have not got it." Celestial communication was thereupon broken off.

KNEW THE WAYS OF WOMEN

Mean Trick of Ballantine That Probably Made Much Trouble for His Friend Blank.

Capt. J. F. Chase of Veteran City, Fla., was in Washington last month to register his forty-seventh, aliphid patent. Capt. Chase is best known as the inventor of the hoop-skirt.

Discussing the hoop-skirt's remarkable success, Capt. Chase said to a reporter:

"The success was due to the skirt's strangeness. Women like strange things. By catering to women, by studying their taste a man can twist them around his finger."

The veteran officer smiled. "Ballantine," he said, "came in late to a song recital in Palm Beach, and there wasn't a vacant seat in the house."

"Ballantine noticed Mrs. Jerome Blank. Mrs. Jerome Blank, he knew, had a very handsome husband that she kept strict watch over—she didn't like him to associate with any of the fair sex."

"Ballantine, edging near to Mrs. Blank, who had an excellent seat, said in a loud voice to a friend: 'Who was that uncommonly pretty girl I saw Jerome Blank talking to on the pier?'"

"In about four seconds Mrs. Blank was gone, and Ballantine was seated comfortably in her chair."

As to the Hessian Fly.

The Hessian fly is a German product which was conceived in iniquity and born in sauerkraut. It is a long, rangy fly with a bite like a steel trap, and it lays a pale blue, oblong egg at the rate of 30,000 an hour. The Hessian fly will eat anything from decayed custard pie to a glass inkwell, but its favorite dish is the double neck of a fat pig. This bird can perform a two-step on sticky fly-paper without crooking its toes, and is proof against rough on rats, the daisy fly killer, and a strychnine hypodermic. No Hessian fly was ever known to die of anything but old age, which accounts for the color of its whiskers. If it ever fastens upon your jaw, it will stay until removed by the undertaker.—Manchester (la.) Press.

Lost in Antiquity.

A little fellow who had just felt the hard side of the slipper turned to his mother for consolation.

"Mother," he asked, "did grandpa thrash father when he was a little boy?"

"Yes," answered his mother, impressively.

"And did his father thrash him when he was little?"

"Yes."

"And did his father thrash him?"

"Yes."

A pause.

"Well, who started this thing, anyway?"—Cassell's Saturday Journal.

Relics of the Stone Age.

During excavations conducted near Willendorf, on the Danube, by the prehistoric section of the Austrian Natural History museum, a chalk figurine, 11 centimeters high, has been discovered in a stratum containing instruments and weapons characteristic of the stone age. The figurine shows traces of having been painted and represents a female figure with remarkable precision of artistic execution.
